—Last evening a very pleasing event occurred at the close of the Methodist prayer meeting. As Mrs. G. H. V. Bulvey is about leaving for the East to spend the winter at her former home, it was decided by some of her friends to present her with a slight token of their appreciation of her services as organist and in conducting the Methodist choir. Accordingly Miss McEwen and Miss Allan called on different members of the congregation and in a very short time made up a purse of $25, which they presented with an address to Mrs. Bulvey last evening at the close of the prayer-meeting. Mr. Bulvey replied on behalf of Mrs. Bulvey stating that she was taken completely by surprise in the presentation made by her friends.

CORRECTION.

In my last letter in this issue, I made a mistake in the name of the "many poor people" which I have been "many of our people" and also near the end of the last paragraph "hundreds of thousands" should have been "hundreds of thousands." Kindly insert the above corrections and oblige.

Fatal Smashup.

A FIREMAN KILLED.

On Friday night last our citizens were alarmed by a most terrifying noise of the rushing and crashing together of railway cars. On hastening to the track it was found that a serious accident had occurred. A train composed of two engines, eleven empties, twenty-three loads and conductor's caboose was approaching Qu'Appelle from the west, and at the top of the grade just west of the town, the car couplings broke seven cars from the caboose. The engineers were signalled to go ahead till the rear section was stopped; in doing so the train again broke, leaving a large portion of the loaded part of the train running at great speed down the grade without control in the centre. When the rear section was stopped, the engineers were signalled to slow up. As the night was very dark it was not known to any of the crew that the train had broken more than once. The consequence was that as the front section showed up the wild part crashed into it with great force. One of the box cars climbed over a flat that was next the engine, and the second tender and on the engine when it rolled into the ditch. The engine cab was crushed and the dome torn away, the engineer was knocked out on to the foot board and the fireman crushed into the ditch, sustaining internal injuries that proved fatal in a few minutes after being found and carried into the Leland House. The engineer, a brakeman and the conductor only received slight injuries. Ten of the empty cars were derailed, six of them rendered almost useless and the track badly torn up. The section gangs from Indian head and here and a wrecking train from Moose Jaw got to work during the night and by eight o'clock the track was clear for traffic. Supt. Tait, of Moose Jaw personally directed the work of clearing away the obstructions. The name of the fireman who was killed was Edgar Stonehouse, formerly from St. Thomas Ont. He was 22 years of age and unmarried. An inquest was held on Saturday afternoon by Dr. Cotton, of Regina, and the jury returned a verdict exonerating the C. P. R. Company and its employees from all blame.

The following is claimed by the Winnipeg Free Press to be an official account of the accident, but from the above, the correctness of which is vouched for, it will be seen that the information furnished that paper is not in accordance with the facts:

"It was about one o'clock Saturday morning that engine 72 was drawing a number of empty cars on the down grade two miles west of Qu'Appelle station. There the train suddenly broke in two. Conductor Budden noticed the mishap and signalled the brakeman on the rear part of the train to stop the cars under his charge. At the same time the engineer was signalled to go ahead so as to prevent the rear section from pitching in. Next to the engine was a flat car and behind it several box cars. Connected by the engineer and the conductor the coupling link between these boxes leaving the middle section of the train running wild. The engineer was leaning out of his cab, and when he saw by the lights on the caboose that the rear section of the train was stopped he slowed down. Then the wild box cars which formed the middle section overtook the engine and flat car and simply climbed over the flat car and the tender, falling on the cab of the engine and crushing it. The engineer who was leaning out of the door looking back at the rear section was knocked out and received only slight injuries, but the fireman was crushed at his post, getting such internal injuries that he died almost immediately. The conductor and brakeman on the wild cars were thrown off, but by some lucky chance received only a few bruises. The victim was E. Stonehouse, a young unmarried man from St. Thomas, Ontario, who entered the service of the company here last July. An inquest was held upon his body Saturday afternoon, when after hearing the testimony of the train-men the jury returned a verdict of accidental death, attributing no blame to the C. P. R. or its employees."

QU'APPELLE BRASS BAND.

The annual meeting was held on Thursday, 1st inst., in the school house. The president (S. H. Caswell), presided. The secretary (H. J. Labaree) submitted his financial statement and report which were adopted, and Messrs. Johnston and Love were appointed auditors. A account of Mr. Sutherland's for services to the band was submitted and the secretary instructed to reply. The following were elected as officers for the year: S. H. Caswell, president; H. J. Labaree, secretary-treasurer (subject to his acceptance); Messrs. Beauchamp, Cowan, Johnston, Love and Thomson, committee.

The following is the report and financial statement:

In presenting to you the financial statement for the year ending Oct. 1st, 1887, I feel it my duty to congratulate you on the results so far achieved.

In the first statement which I have designated instruments account, you will find that I have only taken account of the expenditure in connection with the purchasing of the instruments, stands and music books, and it redounds to the credit of Qu'Appelle that the citizens put in a sound position to commence with. The total subscriptions amounted to $306, which amount, I might say, was subscribed in a very few days and every gentleman who put his name on the list paid up the amount promised. The total expenses of fitting out the band was $298.69 leaving a credit balance of $7.31 which I have transferred to the general account. I think the generosity of the citizens deserves a word of commendation, but I would remind you that out of $306 subscribed, $114 was subscribed by members of the band, in addition to which private instruments have been provided by certain members and which go to make up the superior quality of the music in the matter of harmony.

Turning to the general account, we find the balance on the wrong side, which would not have been the case had all moneys subscribed been paid into the funds. There is about $17 due and which will almost certainly be collected, so that the affairs of our band are not in such a bad state as would at first appear. In the general account I have given you a statement of all receipts and expenses in connection with the working of the affairs of the band. We have passed through more than one crisis both financially and otherwise but have each time come out better for the search and our affairs now rest on a good basis. I feel sure that I only express your sentiments when I say "how may they remain so."

I believe our band stands unique in the fact that in its infancy it has made but little call on the generosity of the citizens. The only amount asked for from them is a sum of $16 which is credited in the general account and which is the result of a canvass for subscriptions towards paying the band-master's salary, the balance of the expenses amounting to $23.69 having been paid by the exertions of the members, with the assistance of a lecture given by Mr. R. MacManus which netted $28.50 and to whom our best thanks are due, as also to Messrs. Whiting Bros. who collected from their custom is through a box the sum of $14.00. It is a strong proof of the very great interest taken by the members in the promotion and working of their band and that they have provided the large sum of four hundred and forty-four dollars against two hundred and eight dollars provided by the citizens. It is earnestly to be hoped that during the coming year the citizens will liberally support this flourishing institution. The thanks of the members and subscribers are due to Mr. A. Sutherland who kindly undertook the care of the band in its infancy and got
